To Whom It May Concern,

I have had the pleasure of teaching Magnus Christoffersen in my scene study class since 2018 and privately via zoom during the Covid years of 2020-2021.

During these years Magnus received the necessary education to perform as an actor on the professional stage, and excelled at all areas of the work due to his talent, technique, charm and dedication.

In my scene study class, Magnus was on par with actors who are currently working on television and film, and he was a wonderful addition to the class. His charisma and work ethic made everyone eager to work with him.

Magnus has a thorough knowledge of character work, script breakdown, scene analysis and technique.

His dedication and work ethic sets him apart immediately.

His past as a world-class, professional ballet dancer is evidence in his attitude, physical fitness and body control.

Recently he served as a movement coordinator on a play that I directed in Hollywood, and his work was one of the highlights of the experience. He is a joy to work with on every level.

I look forward to watch his continued growth as an artist, and a man.

Anyone who has the pleasure of working with him in the future is truly in for a wonderful and fun experience.

He is the real deal.

With pride,

Jeffrey Marcus
